Translations for every educational level

Educational institutions require a variety of different texts and several foreign language versions. The informative nature of material is emphasised when students and partners search for more information about education. Nouveau specialises in translating materials for all the levels of educational institutions. We effortlessly review, edit and proof texts on any subject.

Translation and proofreading

Native translators are always used for translation and proofreading to guarantee the optimal result for the target audience. In addition we offer marketing editing services, making Nouveau the right company to translate your material for attracting foreign students. Nouveau's experience and network enable the fast translation of administrative materials and publication series.

Mastering vocabulary

Texts translated for educational institutions include a diverse range of terminology from various fields. Although Nouveau always uses translators who specialise in a specific field, texts may include new and unfamiliar vocabulary. Thus, sometimes the best solution is to begin a project by performing terminology work. This ensures that even the most challenging vocabulary is correct.

AV translations offer visibility

Dubbed webinars and video lectures provide material that reaches worldwide via distance learning.
